*ECTS credits only awarded to university students or participants who are completing or have completed a university or academic study path

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Students will have the chance to analyse contemporary interior spaces through observation based on individual research. They will develop a professional designer's attitude, searching for materials as a source of inspiration by exploring the city. The project-based work will be oriented towards the creation of a physical and digital model of the interior layout.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- Analyzing contemporary interior spaces through observation based on personal research; in this phase the ability to discover the design-value in the city of Milan - thereby showing a personal sensibility to hunt the wealth of public and private space – will play a relevant role.
- Developing an attitude similar to that of professional designers, acting and searching for materials as a source for inspiration through the city exploration, taking personal notes and drawings, pictures, writing text ideas and so on.
- Based on personal research and course guidelines, develop a project with digital and physical study models of interior layout, using different tools to support the generation of the concept and the proportion of the project, with the aim of highlighting the ability to interpret and represent spaces and environments quickly, easily and very effectively.
- The final results will be presented in a final class exhibition, supported by freehand drawings, a digital presentation and models.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

This course is intended for students with a background and some experience in the field of Interior Design. A basic knowledge of digital modeling tools or software (e.g. Sketchup) is a plus.

OUTPUT

Students will develop revolutionary and original proposals for an interior layout following themes and goals assigned day by day by the professor. Students will have to create models of interior layout, using different tools to support the generation of the concept and the proportion of the project; moreover it will be possible to create a physical study model with the aim of highlighting the ability to interpret and represent spaces and environments quickly, easily and very effectively. Delivery details and format will be made available at the beginning of the course.

LIST OF MATERIALS AND TOOLS

- laptop;
- HB pencil and crayons;
- rubber;
- cutter;
- metal ruler (if possible 60cm long);
- set squares;
- sketchbook
- a pair of scissors.

ATTENDANCE POLICY

Class attendance is required for successful completion of the course. Attendance will be taken every class period. On the last day of classes, instructors will issue a Certificate of successful attendance only to all students who completed at least 80% of the course.
